3 YEARS OF ROOSEVELT

Yesterday, March 4, marked the third anniversary of the New Deal. Critics and friends will condemn and praise the record. Only time can finally evaluate the administration of Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Now we can merely offer opinions.

Yet, we feel that honest appraisal is not so difficult. Roosevelt, like every president of every individual has made mistakes. No man in his position could have foreseen the emergence of all issues. BUT mistakes or no mistakes, Roosevelt MUST concede that AMERICA IS BETTER OFF TODAY THAN IT WAS WHEN ROOSEVELT BECAME PRESIDENT.

You can't get around that. You can't argue human welfare. You can't barter with fate, nor can you outguess them with talk of Liberty League vice presidents.

And it is inconceivable that the New Deal didn't have a lot to do with the return of prosperity. It may be true that depression came in economic cycles, but the man on the street is more concerned with his next meal than with statistics on economic cycles.

And we believe that the above basic fact will reflect Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

"The Forgotten Man" who has been "Remembered" these three eventful years, will speak out for his champion again next November.

From time to time we have criticized certain policies of the New Deal. We shall continue to do so when the occasion warrants. But we continue to believe that the best interest of the PEOPLE will be served by keeping F. D. R. in the White House.

AN EXAMPLE LESSON?

We noted this week another evidence of the FACT that a good live newspaper makes a good live town and that if the town loses its newspaper through rote support, the town loses one of its major assets.

The illustration in question was furnished when the few remaining citizens of a once prosperous Virginia town, asked the state legislature to revoke their charter as an incorporated town. In the news item was the statement that the newspaper in the town had folded up and closed some years back. And with no local paper the town just "dried up."

Think that over. Think it over when your present subscription runs out and you are tempted to take one of the many daily papers in place of renewing your HOME paper.

We have never heard of a town that "dried up" and gave up the ghost where the community loyally supported the HOME PAPER, and it in turn fanned the precious fires of civic spirit and enterprise.

THEY DIVERSIFIED

A report from the vocational agriculture work of the local school, published last week, was mute evidence of the value of diversification. Tobacco was NOT the leading money maker on the list. We are glad to see that the Future Farmers of this county are profitably learning to spread their work over many farm activities.

Evergreen

Evergreen, March 4. With the sun of the past few days peeping out, the coming of the blue birds, we are reminded that spring approaches. Let us all be thankful that we have been spared through the cold winter.

We hope that the March winds and sunny days, with the help of the road machine that our roads will be "OK" again. The bad roads have made it hard on the minister and the doctor. The Rev. F. H. Meade drove 50 miles to preach 2 sermons recently.

When Weak, Nervous

"I can't say enough for Cardui if I talked all day," enthusiastically writes Mrs. L. H. Caldwell, of Stateville, N. C.

"I have used Cardui at intervals for twenty-five years," she adds. "My trouble in the beginning was weakness and nervousness. I read of Cardui in a newspaper and decided right then to try it. It seemed before I had taken half a bottle of Cardui I was stronger and was soon up and around."

Thousands of women testify Cardui helped them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.
